COURT OF SESSIONS. Before the Recorder, Judges Lynch and Noah, and Aldermen Balis and Pollock.

THURSDAY, February 17.

Trial for False Pretence. [Continued.] Robert V. Newby, of the Custom House called—Deposed that on the 3d of July, 1240, Messrs, Amory & Leeds made an extry in the Custom House of four hales of carpeting, and a deposit of $800 to secure the duties. The goods had been in the Public store 199 Washington-street from the 3d of Sept $745 16. Witness was one of the entry clerks in the Custom William C. Haggerty recalled by the District Attorney-Said, on the 22d October, 1840, our firm loaned to Amory & Leeds $900 for the security of Mr. Thomas Austin's draft, to pay the duties on the shawls, the involce value of which was $4,040. On the 20th January, 1840, he received 54 hales of hirtings valued at $2,106 from Messrs. Amory & Leeds There has been a controversy about these goods.

Cross-examined .- Did not send or call for the key of the store 69 New-street, previous to the failure of Amory & Leeds as they said it would take some time to get the Thomas T. Adee, of the firm of Adee, Timpson & Co. Auctioneers, sworn-I was a clerk in the above house it fanuary, 1849. The papers I hold in my hands are invoices of goods pledged to us by Amory & Leeds. There are invoices of 5 and 6 cases of vestings, which are the same as weltings in mercantile parlance. These 11 cases agree in marks and numbers with the 11 of the same description of goods hypothecated to Messes, Haggerty & Sons, previously -and the invoice value of seven of which is $7,625.45; of the other 4 cases $1,190 St-in all $8,816 25.

These 11 cases came is to our possession on the 17th January, 1840, as security on advances made to Amory & Leeds, at the request of Mr. Amory. None of the eleven cases were old by Adee, Timpson & Co., but returned to Amory & Leeds between the 11th of March and 28th of May, at differ-cloths, and Mr. Amory went with me to see Adee, Timpson & Co., to whom they were piedged. Mr. Amory desired Adec, Timpson, & Co. to deliver the cloths to me for the parties I represent in this country. Amory, Leeds & Co. (Signed) "AMORY, LEEDS & CO." eve me a written order for them, and I paid $4,500 to Adee, Timpson & Co. for the advances on 8 cases of these goods. Messrs, Amory & Leeds also gave me an order on Williamon & Henry of Baltimore for thirty pieces of cloths, which I obtained by paying the storage, freight, &c.

L_{ctels} T. Dean, clerk of Austin, Wilmerding & Co. Auction and Commission merchants, sworn—I find an invoice of two cases of shawls valued at $1,120 and put in possession of Austin, Wilmerding & Co. on the 7th January, by Amory & Leeds for advances which were made by our firm upon them. They were returned to Amory & Leeds on the 20th April 1840. The whole of the invoice of goods received from Amory & Leeds was $48,000, on which were obtained Gustavus H. Kissell, merchant, sworn-A case of wellings William Watson, a merchant of this city, by virtue of a power of Attorney, from a house in Manchester, England, viz. Bruner, Smith & Co. Wm. Watson was the former purtner of Messrs, Amory, Leeds & Co.

Cross-examined-1 got the welting of Mr. Watson, after the dissolution of the firm of Amory, Leeds & Co, and some months before the failure of Amory & Leeds. Mr. Watson gave them up without hesitation.

John Haslett, sworn—I am salesman for Mr. Watson; 1 was clerk for Amory & Leeds from the time of their com mencement to the time they failed. Two cases of cloths in voiced at $3,768, and also one invoiced at $1,397 were in the store of Amory & Leeds in Pine-street, in April, 1840; and when I returned from England in August, after the failure of the firm of Amory & Leeds, I found these goods with others in the store of Mr. Foster, in Pearl-street, and they were delivered to the agent of the owners about the 10th of August, 1840. I was the agent of Williams & Sons of Leeds, England, and was when I was clerk to Amory & Co. I was agent for the owners of these goods: I did not know that any agent for the owners of these goods: I did not know that any

Cross-examined.-My compensation was a per centage the commission Messrs. Amory & Leeds received from the house of Williams & Sons, England. Amory and Leeds paid me, and charged their commission to the English house. Messrs, Amory & Leeds did not owe Williams & Sons any thing at the time of their failure; but a balance of about $1,500 was due to Amory & Leeds from Williams & Co. for duties paid on goods unsold. This $1,200 on my return from England, I paid over to Messrs, Haggerty, and redeemed goods to that amount in their hands. I told Messrs, Haggoty that they had no right to hold the goods of Williams & Sons, pledged to them by Amory & Leeds—that the $15,000 worth of cloths pledged to them, had been burnt in the public store and the amount of insurance received and disposed of. I had nothing to do with the financial department of Amory & Leeds.

Alexander M'Kenzie sworn-(Custom House entry shown him.) We got the goods contained in this entry and isvoice from the public stores and paid the duties on them. They are four bales of carpeting, marked A. L. & Co. Made an advance on them to Mr. Gregory.

John Haggerty, Sen. sworm.—Is one of the firm of Haggerty & Sons. The young man, my son, who testified on the stand, is best acquainted with the details of the business. in consequence of representations of Brown, Brothers & Co. and of the unlimited confidence the good name of the defendants had inspired, we were induced to depart from our ordinary course and to make advances on goods left in their possession. I was not consulted on particular advances, but knew they were made, and the first intimation I had of the failure of detendants was from Mr. Brown, of the firm of Brown, Brothers & Co. 1 called on Mr. Amory at their office, and got little satisfaction, except that they said they were unfortunate; and Mr. Amory pledged himself that whatever personal property he had should be given to us. On one of the interviews, Mr. Amory mentioned that the key of the store in New-street was sent to Mr. Brown until it could be determined who the goods that were therea belonged to. Mr. Amory and myself met Mr. Griffin and Mr. Lord at the house of one or the other, where conversations were had relative to the property in the store in New street, and how we should get possession of it; and, by the a lvice of counsel, we did take possession of it. Mr. Amory also offered to give up to us his farm. Mr., Amory wished to get clear of the business, and references and arbitrations were proposed. We soon after directed our attention to the property pledged to us in New-street, and found it lamentably short and deficient, and a very imperfect account given us of it. (Paper shown.) This paper, containing an account of the disposition of the missing property, was put in to my hands in November, 1840. I knew nothing of the 11 bales of cloth being burnt in the public store until this paper was put into my hand, nor did I discover the enormity of the fraud before. The moment we discovered this, we determined to bring them to justice. We knew if we sued them we should get nothing. Several suits were instituted gainst us on account of these very goods, and the reason e did not commence criminal proceedings sooner was, the testimony of the defendants was wanted by us in suits commenced against us. I sent for Amory and Leeds to come to my office to let them understand what I intended to do, as they had made some petty offers of compromise for four or five cents on a dollar, or thereabouts. This was mont three weeks before proceedings had been commenced. I told them I had sent for them to let them know my feelings, views and intentions concerning them-that we had advanced them a large amount of money, and that they had appropriated some $30,000 or $40,000 to their own use, and 1 upposed (as I said) that they had reserved, enough to pay They said no ; they had reserved nothing, and would do nothing for us. I then told them of the 11 bales of cloth they had pledged to us as being in their store in Pine-street, and which they had got insured as being in the public store in Front-street, which had been burnt, and that they had appropriated the proceeds to their own use. Mr. Amory said no, for the amount was paid over to the owners of the goods. I then said, as far as regards us, the result is the same. I then told him that I intended to go to the Grand Jury and make a complaint against them for false pretence. Mr. Amory said he was in the hands of his God, and 1 replied we should not discuss that here. I told han that they had toricited all their engagements-that, as for him, Mr. Amory, he had given me up his farm, furniture and private property, but that he had promised to give me the balance on their books, which they had not done. I also told Mr. Leeds that he had promised, on his return from England, to furnish me with a list of his landed property, &c. that I might make a selection from it of such as would be available and least incumbered, but had not done it. He said he had been advised otherwise by Mr. McCail and others of his friends. 1

then told him I should proceed to prosecute, and they left I then went before the Grand Jury and made my complaint Cross-examined.-Our firm had done much business with Brown, Brothers & Co., and made frequent sales for them It was generally known that these gentlemen had given up the foreign agency business to Messrs. Amory & Leeds, and had given them credits for goods. They commenced under very favorable auspices, and had a high standing. The interview of Mr. Lord and Mr. Griffin was brought about by Mr. Amory, who, to do kim justice, seemed anxious to do Peck & Sayre.

all he could for us to secure us and to settle the matter. The goods were taken from the store in New street about a week after this interview. Heard the key of the store was in the hands of Brown, Brothers & Co. previous to the meeting. Was advised by Mr. Griffin to take possession of the property in New street; afterwards acted under the advice of Mr. Lord, his counsel. Charged both the defendants at various times with having wilfully intended to defraud the firm by appropriating our property to their own individual uses. Made such charge in June, 1840. Mr. Amory conveyed to me his farm at Sing Sing on the 1st July, 1840 My son Ogden rented of Mr. Amory, and occupied one of Mr. Amory's houses on that farm before it was conveyed to me. Mr. Amory occupied the other house on the farm. Or going up the river in July, 1840, I stopped a short time at the residence of Mr. Amory, and saw him and his wife. Mr. Amory went with us on a pleasure excursion. I have seen my son Ogden and Mr. Amory together in a wagon going to church. Never told Rev. Mr. Halsey that I considered Mr. Amory an honest man, but might have said that Mr. Amory performed his promise in relation to the farm; but never after the discovery of the large amount of missing tember, 1839 to the 3d July, 1840. The amount of duties was property did I ever speak of Mr. Amory in any other than n language of condemnation of his conduct. Never said to Mr. Strang or Mr. Hobart that the losses we had sustained by Amory & Leeds was more owing to the negligence of my sons than to any dishonest or improper conduct on the part of Amory & Leeds. Mr. Amory often went with me to my counsel, Mr. Lord, on the subject of our business. He never refused to go, and seemed disposed to aid us all he could, and to get rid of the business as became him. Made use of both of them as witnesses for us. I treated both the defendants civilly when I met them. Did not call them drescals when I met them in the streets, but conversed with them in a business way. At the last interview, when I sent for them, I did not state to them that I wanted $20,000 or $40,000, but told them how I felt and what I intended to do. I told them I supposed they had some $34,000 or $40,000 for me, but did not believe they had any such thing. When they told me they had nothing for me, I told them they must then take the consequences. I might have said, but I don't remember, saying to Messrs. Robinson that I intended to get all I could out of Amory & Leeds, and then punish them afterwards.

At half-past four o'clock the Court adjourned to ten or Friday morning.

The following letter of Amory, Leeds & Co. has been furnished us as the one reterred to in the testimony yester

Five cases of cloths were also received from Amory & Leeds, by our firm, on which we made advances: three of them received on the 17th January, and two on the 17th February; invoice value of all the five cases $7,439. Of these one case was returned to defendants on the 17th of February, 1840, and the other four to Mr. Steinhil, agent for the owners, after the failure of Messrs. Mr. Covert—Dear Sir, Mrs. Chasteney has taken 2 bottles of your Bulm of Life, and to my surprise is now in better health than I have known her to be for several years. She has been afflicted within severe Cough for fifteen years, and by many Physicians her lungs have been pronounced incurable. She has several times been so low that it was thought she could not recover. Now her Cough, comparatively speaking, is hardly visible, and the during pains of the lungs have subsided. Mrs. C. has taken a variety of medicines, but has never experienced so much relief as she has from your valuable Balm of Life. It is from a sense of gratitude and a feeling for others similarly afflicted, that I write you this certificate.

Other members of my family have used it with decided benefit. I am, dear sir, very respectfully, yours. EDWARD CHASTENEY, Druggist, 1402 Bowery
